THE SUNDAY JOURNAL SOCIETY DEPARTMENT.

In the absence of Miss E. Nellie Beck, the Society Department of The Sunday Journal, is conducted by Miss Flossie Boyer, Miss Occle Clubs, Miss Lillie Williams and Miss Amy Briggs, who compose the senior class of the Pensacola High School.

The program of this new society page staff will be at the home of Miss Flossie Boyer, whose telephone number is 417. Readers of The Journal are requested to telephone all society news there and to do so early in the week so that the young ladies may have time to get the matter in shape for publication Sunday morning.

QUINA-HALEY.

The wedding of Mr. Joseph Quina and Miss Alice Haley was solemnized Friday afternoon in St. Michael's church at 5 o'clock.

To the strains of Wagner's Wedding March, the bride party entered the church; first the ushers in couples, Mr. Martin Swayne and Mr. A. Tourant, Mr. Thos. Johnson and Mr. Cliff Fulham. Then Mr. Pat Egan with the sweet young bridesmaid (cousin of the bride), Miss Gladys Davenport, who was attired in white crepe de chene over white silk and carried white chrysanthemums. They were followed by the matron-of-honor, Mrs. Ernest Eschhoff, charming in pink crepe with lace and with a bouquet of pink chrysanthemums. Next came Miss Florence Haley, maid-of-honor and sister of the bride, wearing white silk trimmed in applique and decorated with turquoise. Miss Haley carried white chrysanthemums. Then came the bride on the arm of her brother, Mr. Lem Haley, who gave her away. She wore a beautiful gown of white crepe over white silk with applique and pearl trimmings.

She was met at the altar by Mr. Quina and his best man, Mr. Gerald Quina. "The Angel's Serenade" was softly played by Mrs. Flinn, who presided at the organ during the service.

After the wedding a reception was held at the residence of Mrs. F. E. Comyns, aunt of the bride.

In the receiving line were: Mrs. M. L. Surri, Mrs. M. E. Clark and Mrs. J. I. Quina, mother of the groom, these ladies wore beautiful toilettes of silk.

The house was tastefully decorated with quantities of bamboo, southern similar and magnolias.

In the dining room amidst a profusion of white and pink chrysanthemums, the delicious refreshments were served.

The waitresses, were Miss Jessie de Rocheblave, Miss Cora Scarritt.

Miss Rita Kelly, Miss Florence Davenport, Miss Louise Comyns and Miss Sybil Wheat. With the exception of Miss Wheat and Miss de Rocheblave, they were gowned in white mohair over white silk. Miss Wheat was in lavender organza and Miss de Rocheblave in white crepe embroidered in yellow chrysanthemums.

Miss de Rocheblave presided at the punch bowl.

There were many beautiful presents of cut glass, silver and hand painted china.

Mr. and Mrs. Quina will be at home to their friends for the present at 325 East Romana street, but will go to housekeeping as soon as their new home on East Hill is completed.

After the ceremony a wedding supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Waters are at home to their friends at 1122 Strong street and Tenth avenue.

AN ENJOYABLE DANCE.

The younger set of Jewish boys gave an enjoyable dance last Wednesday night at the O. K. of A. Hall, on North Baylen street, which will be remembered for a long time by all who attended. Those present were: Messrs. Joseph Stone, Martin Menko, Ralph Berlin, C. M. Frenkel, Leo F. Lichten, Ben C. Heinberg, Harry Wagenheim, H. P. Moog, Joe Gugenheim, R. Flashner, Ed Frenkel, Leon Levy; Misses Rein Gah, Lois Menko, Belle Berlin, Fannie Berlin, Fannie Wagenheim, Bert C. Lichten, Leah Cahn, Fay Heinberg, Reina Dannheisser, Theresa Jacoby, Bertha Levy, Esther Gugenheim, Lillie Isreal.

The crowd was chaperoned by Mr. and Mrs. Ike J. Hellbron, Mr. Morris Levy and Miss Sara J. Kahn. The music was furnished by Collins's orchestra and the event was enjoyed from the beginning until "Home, Sweet Home" was played in the early hours of Thanksgiving morning.

THE KRAMER-BORRAS CHRYSANTHEMUM WEDDING.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season was that of Miss Crescencia Borras, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Borras, to Mr. John Edward Kramer, which occurred at the German Lutheran church on Thanksgiving eve, Rev. J. W. Reinhardt officiating.

The church was profusely decorated with chrysanthemums, ferns and palms, yellow and white being the prevailing colors, and when the bride party entered, to the beautiful strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march rendered by a full orchestra, the edifice was crowded with the many relatives and friends of the happy couple.

The bride party, upon entering the church was preceded by six little maids, tastefully attired in yellow organza and carrying flowers, the maids being immediately followed by the ushers, Mr. Edgar Day and Mr. Leoncio Borras, in evening dress.

The bridesmaid, Miss Louise Frenkel, charming in white silk with turquoise lace and carrying yellow chrysanthemums tied with white ribbons, accompanied by the groomsmen, Mr. Fred Favourite, were next in the imposing procession, and were followed by Miss Carrie Kramer, also in white silk with turquoise lace and carrying yellow chrysanthemums and Mr. Arthur Pfeiffer.

The maid of honor, Miss Rita Borras, sister of the bride, then entered alone, being met at the altar by the best man, Mr. Arthur Johnson. Miss Borras was lovely in white silk, lace and chiffon and carried a magnificent bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums, tied with white ribbon.

Next entered the beautiful bride on the arm of her father, Mr. J. L. Borras. The bride was most becomingly attired in white silk, trimmed with chiffon, which set off her brunette beauty to the greatest possible advantage. She wore a tall veil, caught up with lilies of the valley and carried a bridal bouquet of pure white chrysanthemums.

The bridal party was met at the altar by the groom, accompanied by the best man, and the ceremony performed, while the orchestra rendered the soft strains of appropriate music, the bridal party afterwards leaving the church to the glorious wedding march of Tannhauser.

Immediately after the ceremony a large and brilliant reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, on East Government street, the spacious residence being fairly ablaze with electric lights, and profusely decorated with chrysanthemums, palms, autumn leaves, ferns and flowers. A beautifully decorated table had been spread the length of two large rooms, which had been thrown together for the occasion, which was laden with almost every conceivable substantial and dainty that goes to make up a magnificent wedding feast, a number of beautiful bridal cakes forming a conspicuous part of the decorations.

A spacious ball room, where music was thrown open to the guests, who until the wee sma' hours, "tripped the light fantastic toe" in celebration of the auspicious event.

Mr. and Mrs. Kramer were handsomely remembered by their many friends, the presents, which included the most beautiful silver, cut glass, drawn work, furniture—in fact, everything necessary to a young couple just launching out together on the sea of life—filling a large room. Conspicuous among the presents were a magnificent china closet and a beautiful sideboard presented by Mr. Kramer's friends in the Louisville and Nashville shops, where Mr. Kramer has charge of the air brake department.

The many friends of the young couple join in wishing them the greatest happiness and prosperity.

PRETTY ENTERTAINMENT OF THANKSGIVING WEEK.

One of the prettiest entertainments of Thanksgiving week was a dinner given Friday evening by Miss Ruby Oertling to announce the engagement of her cousin, Miss Anna Oertling to Mr. Charles Broughton of this city, a number of their girl friends being present.

Miss Oertling received her guests in the double parlors, which were prettily decorated with white chrysanthemums and ferns.

At seven o'clock the hostess led the way to the dining room, which had been transformed for the occasion into a veritable lovers' paradise. The color scheme throughout was red, white and green.

About the bay windows and fire places were banded bouquets of the glossy leaves magnolia, while the lighter foliage of ferns and delicate rose vine threw into relief trailing blossoms of brilliant scarlet salvia. Broad red ribbon festooned in lover's knots over glowing hearts added to the riotous color effect.

Over each corner of the table was suspended a red wedding bell, the center piece being a shower of beautiful half-blown red roses. Covers were laid for twelve, and rosy hearts bearing the names of the prospective bride and groom, and an appropriate quotation, marked each place. The salads, iced bonbons, etc., were all heart-shaped and the entire menu was in red, white and green.

One pretty feature was the exclusion of all light save that from numerous red and white candles scattered about the room, and exquisite little fairy lamps on the tables, which threw a rosy glow over the happy faces and pretty gowns of the girls.

Before the first course was served Miss Oertling made a graceful speech saying they were assembled to offer congratulations and good wishes—"For a woman's heart has conquered."

The little hearts then disclosed the secret, and toasts to the Queen of Hearts, congratulations, and general

One might used this design either as a lingerie frock or as a picturesque over-all for the little maid of some half a dozen summers or so; since it lends itself equally well to either or both uses. When it is to be employed for the former purposes, any of the washable materials in use will answer, although for winter wear there is a tendency to make use of the light and sheer woollens, henriettas, nun's veils, ings, and the like. There is a shawl yoke over the shoulders which may be of almost any material or design, though in the illustration it is of an over-all embroidery. The part next to the armholes being cleverly brought up over the shoulder in the guise of a bretelle strap. The sleeve is a full bishop puff, with a frilled cuff at the wrist, and there is a trimmed band posed flat on the hem.
